Constituent Assembly and Framing of the Constitution

The Constitution of India was drafted by a Constituent Assembly (set up under the Cabinet Mission Plan of 1946) between the years 1946 and 1949. Dr. Rajendra Prasad served as the President of this body.

299 members (including 15 women) of the Assembly took less than three years (1946-1949) to draft the Constitution.

The Constituent Assembly members met over 11 sessions between December 1946 and November 1949.

On 29 August 1947 the Constituent Assembly set up a Drafting Committee under the chairmanship of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar to prepare a draft Constitution.

"India drafted an inclusive Constitution under the leadership of respected Baba Saheb Ambedkarji. This inclusive Constitution is the harbinger of a resolve to build New India. It has brought with it some responsibilities for us and also set a few boundaries on us."

"Constitution is not a mere lawyers document, it is a vehicle of life and its spirit is always the spirit of age."

On that day the assembly ceased to exist transforming itself into the provisional Parliament of India until a new Parliament was constituted in 1952. While deliberating upon the draft Constitution, the Assembly moved, discussed and disposed of 2473 amendments out of a total of 7635 amendments tabled.

Out of the 299 members, 284 members actually signed the Constitution.

Fundamental Duties – Significance & Addition

The key idea behind incorporation of the 11 fundamental duties in our Constitution was to emphasize the obligation of citizens in exchange for the comprehensive rights enjoyed by them.

Fundamental duties focus on key values of Respect, Pride, Tolerance, Peace, Growth and Harmony.

Introduced into the Constitution in 1976 by the 42nd Constitution Amendment Act, Fundamental Duties prescribe the fundamental, moral, and obligatory duties of citizens to the nation.

A committee constituted while recommending insertion of Fundamental Duties opined that steps needed to be taken to ensure that citizens did not overlook their duties while exercising their Fundamental Rights.

The 11th Fundamental Duty regarding education opportunities for children was added to the Constitution by the 86th Amendment Act, 2002.

“I learnt my duties on my mother's lap. She was an unlettered village woman...She knew my dharma. Thus if from my childhood we learn what our dharma is and try to follow it our rights look after themselves... The beauty of it is that the very performance of a duty secures us our right. Rights cannot be divorced from duties. This is how satyagraha was born, for I was always striving to decide what my duty was.”

Mahatma Gandhi on the importance of Fundamental Duties at a prayer meeting in Delhi on 28th June 1947

Inspiration on Fundamental Duties was derived from the Constitutions of USSR, Japan and China.

Our Fundamental Duties are a codification of duties integral to promoting the Indian way of life. They promote a sense of discipline and commitment towards the society.

Fundamental duties are intended to serve as a constant reminder to every citizen that while the Constitution specifically conferred on them certain Fundamental Rights, it also requires citizens to observe certain basic norms of democratic conduct and democratic behaviour because rights and duties are co-relative.

“Every Indian should now forget that he is a Rajput, a Sikh or a Jat. He must remember that he is an Indian and he has every right in his country but with certain duties.”

Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel

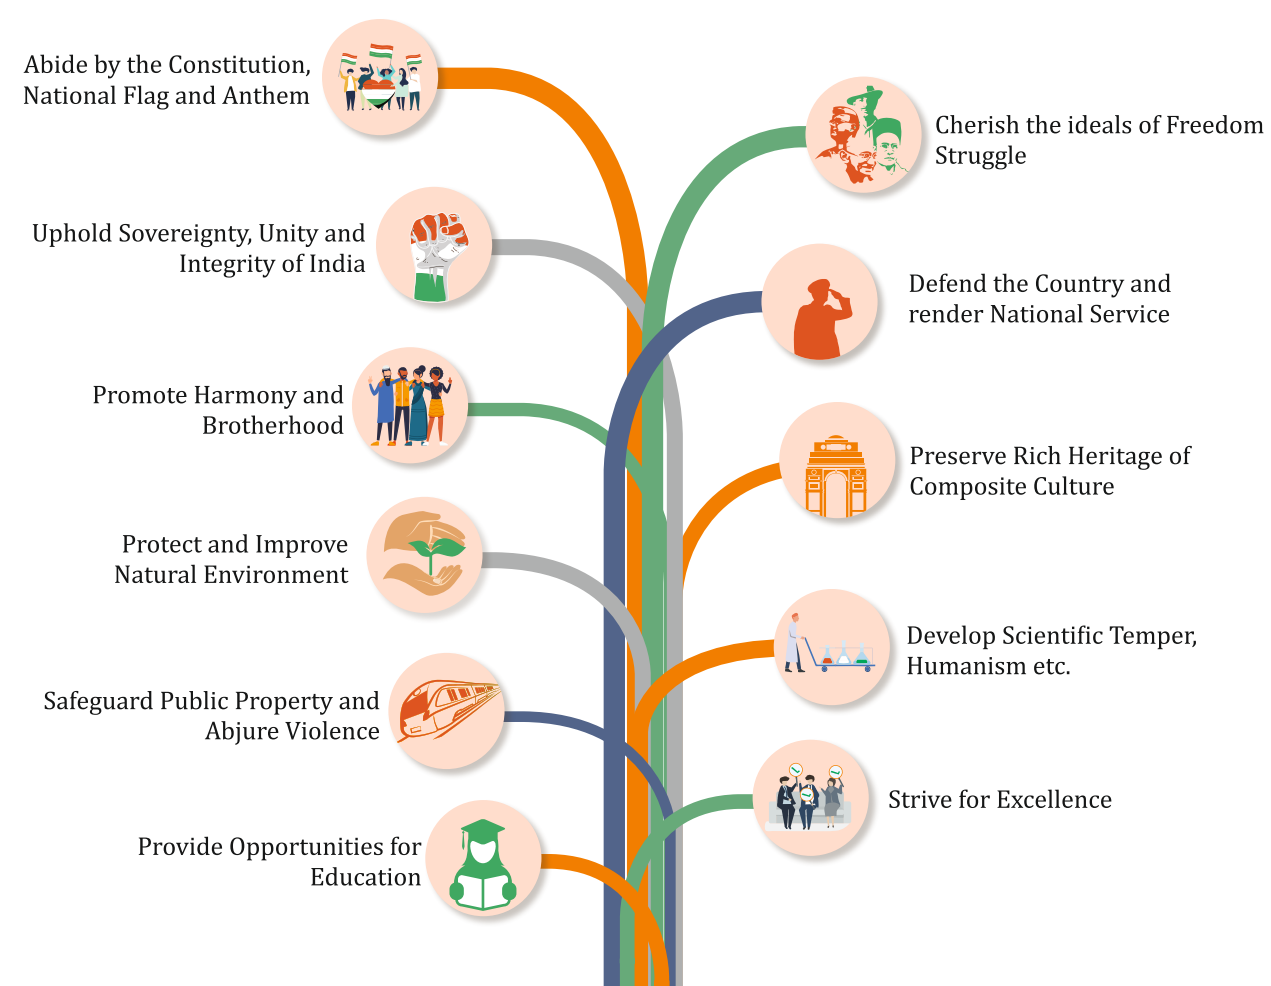

Citizens' and Fundamental Duties can help us in realising our national goals only through active participation.

In October 1999, a committee headed by Justice Verma submitted a report on 'Suggestions to teach Fundamental Duties to the Citizens of the Country'.

“Democracy is not merely a form of Government... It is essentially an attitude of respect and reverence towards our fellow men.”

Dr. B. R. Ambedkar

The Eleven Duties enshrined in the Constitution (Part IV-A, Article 51A)

The addition of fundamental duties in our Constitution has aligned it with the Article 29(1) of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

“The very right to live accrues to us only when we do the duty of citizenship of the world. From this one fundamental statement, perhaps it is easy enough to define the duties of man and woman, and correlate every right to some corresponding duty to be first performed. Every other right can be shown to be usurpation hardly worth fighting for.”

Mahatma Gandhi

Fundamental Duties and Rights are two sides of the same coin.

Mahatma Gandhi has said that “the source of duty is right. If we discharge our duties, rights will not be far to seek”.

Democracy cannot establish its deep roots in the society until and unless the citizens don't compliment their fundamental rights with their fundamental duties.

Every right carries with it a corresponding duty. Performance of one's citizen duty ensures the rights of others.

We are entitled to our rights when we perform our duties.
